

Cause for Concern?

New Directions in American-Jewish Attitudes Toward Israel

On June 13, 2019, the Roth Institute helped organize a symposium on American-Jewish attitudes toward Israel at Tel Aviv University based on the results of the American Jewish Committee's (AJC) annual survey.

A presentation of the survey's findings was followed by a panel moderated by Dr. Yoav Fromer, Director of TAU's Center for the Study of the United States, which included former Knesset Member Rachel Azaria and Prof. Jonathan Karp of the State University of New York, Binghamton.

The symposium concluded with a discussion in which the Israeli journalist Attila Somfalvi hosted Prof. Yossi Shain, Head of TAU's School of Political Science, regarding the relationship between Israel and American Jewry.